

Business Briefcase

By Independent Record - 07/19/09

Area business happenings

Names and Faces

Gary Burgess has been promoted to the position of ASO/Key Account manager for New West Health Services. Burgess has worked in the health care industry for 18 years. He managed multiple locations for West Montana's statewide Durable Medical Equipment Department, during which time he served on the Montana Medicaid DME Advisory Council.

Following that, Burgess was manager of Medical Accounting and Billing, a Helena company that does billing and collections for a variety of physicians in various specialties. In 2006 Gary came to New West Health Services as a Provider Services Specialist for the central region of the state.

Burgess looks forward to his new role serving New West's administrative services customers which include the State of Montana employees and university system employees.

Doug Frazier recently joined New West Health Services as a provider relations specialist.

Frazier comes from Boise, Idaho, where he owned his own consulting firm for small businesses. He also has experience with CIGNA Government Services where he worked as a provider relations senior analyst.

Before his employment with CIGNA, Frazier worked in Billings with various durable medical equipment companies.